

Data Discovery

We Get Your Data

Data Discovery

When it comes to data discovery it shouldn't be so complex. However, detecting the many different patterns in data can be too specific and seemingly arbitrary. The difficulty of this process can leave identifying these variations of data a trial by error or a guessing game. In addition, much of the data you are trying to identify or view is scattered among many disparate systems. You shouldn't have to work so hard to identify, view, and present the data you need to get your job done. IPeople understands these complexities and addresses each of these data discovery processes with a variety of solutions.

IPeople Reporting Service Center

"Phenomenal product! The IPeople Account Analysis Wizard (IAAW) is very intuitive and extremely easy to use. My work load has been reduced tremendously. Reports that used to take up to an hour now take 2 minutes! We also believe this product will significantly reduce the number of outsourced NPR reports." Lee Ann Smith,
